THE ENGINEER DEPARTMENT INSTI-TUTES A MUCH NEEDED REFORM.

The Pavements to be Neatly Repaired After They Have Been Opened for the Laying of Gas and Water Pipes-The Plan Adopted by Major Raymond.

Although we have the best streets and avenues in the country, they are in many places distigured by conspicuous blemishes, caused by excavations for water and gas-pipes. Engineer Commissioner Raymond has approved the recommendations of Captain Symons regarding the repair of cuts in concrete pavements made for water, sewer, gas and electric connections and other purposes. He says the nections and other purposes. He says the earth filling is rarely ever properly compacted when put back. This renders it impossible to repair these cuts in a suisfactory manner, as this earth will subsequently settle and carry the pavement with it, leaving a trough-shaped depression. To overcome this difficulty in the future the following plan is proposed:

As soon as possible after the cut is made and filled in by the plumber or others making it, the superintendent of streets will go over it, remove sufficient of the filled-in material and put in a concrete arch. This arch is to abut upon the crete arch. This arch is to abut upon the natural, undisturbed earth. He will then fill in over it with earth and leave it to await the coming of the contractor for minor repairs. The necessary binder and wearing surface will then be put in to complete the job.

The total expense of doing the work to be charged to the plumber, gas com-

All plumbers or others removing val-uable materials from the street, such as granite blocks, asphalt blocks, etc., etc., be held accountable for the same until they are replaced by the District laborers, and that any of this material lost or injured be charged to them.

The amount of deposit required from plumbers be increased from $10 to $15 to cover the value of materials and the increased expense of repairing cuts accord-ing to the method proposed.

What Saved Her Life,

Letitia Fella yesterday swore out a warrant against "Commodore" Booth for threatening her life. In the Police Court this morning she her life. In the Police Court this morning she testified that sie went to the pump to get a pail of water and on her return she met the Commodore who proceeded to interview her in a somewhat startling manner. She claims that the defendant stepped up to her and presenting a revolver said: "You — yellow —, I will blow your head off," After some little further interesting conversation, the witness proceeded on her way. She said that despite her marvellous escape she was in mortal fear of the defendant and she owed her life to "Almighty God and a cont box." Just how these two items of protection became so intimately asseciated does not appear. The case was dismissed.

Speed."
The domand of the public for faster train service to the North met its first response service to the North met its first response when the B. & O. R. R. on the 18th of last month reduced the running time between Washington and Philadelphia to three hours and fifteen minutes. This stroke of enterprise on the part of the B. & O. aroused the people to the fact that the traffic could no longer be held as a monopoly by one line and they forced to accept such train service as it chose to give. The business men and residents of this city are therefore being again benefitted by the competition which it was predicted would follow the entrance of the B. & O. Into Philadelphia. The number of trains run daily between here and Philadelphia is now about double what it was four years ago, before the Philadelphia Division of the B. & O. was built. The precision and case with which the fast

Philadelphia Division of the B. & O. was built. The precision and case with which the fast schedule on the B. & O. has been maintained has demonstrated to its management the entire feasibility of still further reducing the time with absolute safety. They have decided therefore to out fifteen minutes from the present schedule, and, commencing December 9, will run their Limited Express trains between Washington and Philadelphia in three hours. This speed is cutirely compatible with prudent management, being at the rate of about 46 miles per hour, a rate easy to maintain with the powerful engines of the B. & O. and over a railway so superbly built us its line to Philadelphia.

A BUSY DAY IN COURT-

James Brown, alias J. B. Hunt, alias B. Buck, under indictment for stealing Mrs. Potter's jewelry, was arraigned in the Criminal Court this morning and pleaded not guilty. He was neatly dressed entirely in black. After entering his plea he remained for some time in onsultation with his counsel, Campbell Carrington, Sentences were imposed as usual on aturday in the Criminal Court. John Salurday in the Criminal Court. John Meuller, convicted of housebreaking, was sentenced to eighteen months at Albany. He had gone into the house of James R. McCeach on June 23 for the purpose of stealing. He is but 17 years old, and, on arriving here from Chicago, got in with some thieves here. His statements to the officers were very frank and full. He cried bitterly while asking the full. He cried bitterly while asking the leniency of the Court. He said that he could get no work and that he was led into his crimes by another man. He confessed to entering six different houses.

James Jackson, found guilty of as sault with intent to kill on William Pearson, was sentenced to eight years at Albany. Pearson did not die until after the year and a day within which the victim must die to constitute murder. Judge Montgomery reminded him that Pearson died only one day too late to make the crime murder.

Mary Jackson was fined $10 for petit larceny. She stole meat from William E. Brooke.

Judge Montgomery reduced the sentence of John W. McFarland, convicted with Mary J. McBride of houseburning, from four years at Alban to be sentenced. from four years at Albany to two years. McFarland had rendered much assistance to the authorities in procuring evidence in the case.

The motion for a new trial in the case of Albert Green, convicted of the murder of James Lucas at a colored "broom drill," was denied, as was the motion for a new trial in the case of Frederick Bar-ber convicted of the murder of Aggie Watson by drowning her. A motion for arrest of judgment in Barber's case will be argued before the Court in General Term. The ground of this motion is that the indictment does not allege the death of Aggie Watson as the result of drowning.

George Curry, colored, pleaded guilty to the charge of housebreaking. He had broken into the house of John H. Walters. Frank H. Curtis, colored, aged 19, also pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking into the house of Patrick O'Hare, He stated that he got $150.

Few wives see as much of their husbands as Few wives see as much of their husbands as fibbs. Mrs. Cleveland of the President. His office is on the second floor of the White House and is part of their private suite. As Mrs. Cleveland sits in her boudoir she has only to lean back in her chair to see her husband at work. There he works from early in the moraling until late at night. Just after dinner he spends an hour in his wife's bondoir, and then he walks through the always open doors into his office, where he may be found writing long after midnight. Whenever he writes anything that he thinks will be particularly interesting to his wife he takes it to her room and reads it aloud to her, and she gives him her critical opinion on the subject.

Phil Daly's Habits,

Phil Daly, the gambler, who got his great tart in life by winning $100,000 on Grover Cleveland's election in 1884, is said to have Cleveland's election in 1884, is said to have bet the same way this year, though he settled his bets with a loss of only about $12,000. It is said that in the four years just pust he has increased his wealth about a quarter of a million dollars. He is one of those sporting men, not so uncommon after all, that neither drink, smoke, nor chew. Daly does not look his age by ten years. He is broad, heavy and solid in appearance, and his manner is exceedingly quiet, not to say shrinking. He soldom smiles, and he is so accustomed to being quoted by men of all sorts in and out of his place, that his manner is not exactly cordial. It is safe to say that nine people out of ten would not pick him out as the sort of a man to play a dangerous game with. play a dangerous game with.

NATIONAL-"LORD CHUMLEY." In "Lord Chumley," the new comedy which Mr. E. H. Sothern presents Monday evening at the National Theatre, the authors, Messra. De Mille and Belasco, have sought to supply Mr. Sothern with an eccentric role congenial to his interests, and give good acting parts to the excellent supporting company. "Lord Chumley" is claimed to be a simple comedy, the leading character of which is a young aristocrat, who, though a straightforward fellow, impresses his friends that he is in need of mental balance. He sacrifices himself for his friend, the brother of hissweetheart; estranges her affections by his apparent unworthy conduct; becomes innocently involved matrimonially with a stout spinter, and after a series of contretemps secures the happiness of all concerned. The cast includes, ocsides Mr. Sothern, C. R. Hishop, Herbert Archer, Belle Archer, Rowland Buckstone, Kate Pattison, Maud Adams, Kitty Wilson, George Backus, Cyril Scott, and Tuliy Marshall. Amisement Notes.

"The Lady of Lyons," with Mrs. Potter as Pauline and Mr. Bellew as Claude, drew a good house at Allundy's last night, and the performance was intreesting, albeit Mrs. Potter's Pauline was just a shade funny at times, when there was so especial need of it. Mr. Bellew's Claude was excellent, though we must insist that Mr. Bellew is too excessive in enunciation. Helhould play in a lower register. Mr. Bowket's the par was tragic. Tonight, "Twixt Ax and Crown."

ornamental goods suitable for Christman from one day's business, are as quickly filled in preparation for that of the next; but as this method cannot be carried on up to Christmas eve. we edvice, as we have always here ofore advised, an immediate or an enriv selection, in order to reap the bynefits of a full stock, a perfect unbroken assortment, and a calm, satisfactory selection, all of which will be impossible in the hurry and rush incident to shopping this week or a few days prior to Christmas.

Swiss Music Boxes. These rank among the greatest of modern inventions. No great amount of talent necessary to play the most difficult airs. You wind them up, turn the key and listen. What an outpouring of sunisdiring strains. We selected only a few of the choicest. Instruments that play four airs, $7.50; six airs, for $10; eight airs, for $15; ten airs, for $25. Also Grand Instruments that play eight select pueces, $30.75 to $75. One of these would make an ele-

A PARAGON OF UTILITY.

The "Lord Chumley" Cape Ulster.

Every one we sell introduces it and us to new friends; society men, business men, physicians, clergymen, lawyers, all find it exactly "the ticket." Wear it to the theatre over your dress suit; wear it to business; to church; drive in it; travel in it, we had nearly said sleep in it, but we draw the line there; we don't care to injure our own business by limiting a man's wardrobe to a single garment. No, the "Chumley" Ulster is not a patent night-robe, although it might on a pinch, and it doubtless will, sometimes, be made to do such humble service.

We have a variety of Cape Ulsters for Men and Boys; of overcoats--the subject really demands more space than we have left in this article.
